

Letters

Write to: The Editor
Reading Post, 1
Road, Reading,
RG1 1AA, or email
editorial@reading
post.co.uk or (0118) 959 905

Bored by celebrities airing dirty laundry

HEARING about celebs who crawl out of the woodwork about hating affairs is starting to bore me.

If a normal couple spill the beans about affairs their relationship's legally over.

I don't know, why apart from the money for being a celeb, or to up their profiles, they risk everything in their relationships just so they can get their faces in the press.

It's bad enough seeing Katie Price's name in the news as it is and that's enough to put you off your appetite.

But just because they are famous, get money, and so on...

I wouldn't sell out my private life for anyone.

Secondly, if I was seeing other women - which I don't - or I told the press about my private life along with my wife's, I'd either see divorce papers from her or she'd poison me with her cooking.

Simon Gambling,
Orts Road, Newtown.

I don't trust Brown on funding claims

WE ARE being fed misleading and often incorrect statements by a man whose recent visit to Reading was reported in this newspaper.

Nobody believes crime is down, not up, as they tell us because if that were true we would not need an

Star letter

Win a meal for two by helping baths

IN ADDITION to the information about the King's Meadow Campaign Reading Young Artist Competition, King's Meadow Open-Air Baths is being featured in the May issue of the Reader's Digest magazine to encourage anyone that has an old building nearby to go forward with actions to help restore it.

The Crowne Plaza Hotel by Caversham Bridge is offering a free meal for two in support of the King's Meadow Campaign for a monthly "Donators Draw".

The first "Donators Draw" will take place at the end of April. There will be following draws through Woolton Bassett this country sees another good man or woman lost from the service of this country, each of them well trained at great expense, potential for good lost.

We have a PM who is either delusional or a lying toad. I have no trust in him.

Sue Doughty,
Veroy Close,
Twyford.

APPEAL: King's Meadow Baths

at the end of May and June.

You are able to donate on the website to help restore the Edwardian baths and refurbish the King's Meadow facilities. Or cheques accepted. Register a brick for just £1 (or bricks!).

For further information call Bob O'Neill on (0118) 947 2023 or Anne Jessel on (0118) 907 2398.

Anne Jessel.

by flooding as that is what they want to hear but by 2010-11 can be forgotten and not acted on."

I have not seen any signs of this work starting on the River Loddon.

Could the Environment Agency update your readers on this issue

M Chesson,
Arborfield Road, Shinfield.

Children know right from wrong at 10

No one wants our child ill-used but the fear of the world keep them under a while they were being too

Now we come to Children Commissioner Maggie At

This is a woman with no of her own passing judges the responsibility of 10 an year-old kids.

Let me say as a father and a grandfather, great grandfather and great grandfathers to 70-odd children on business saying what thinks to people who have children.

Children start to know right from wrong almost as soon start walking.

Also they start to find out doing what they want.

They get better at this as grow older and before they or 12 they know what they doing, right or wrong.

As they grow up they are by their parents - a finger and a firm voice tells them what they are doing is wrong

A gentle voice and perhaps cuddle tells them that what have done is right.

The one thing they have is to ignore anything that you like Dr Atkinson says, who apparently live in a different world.

Brian

Still no news about

Illigial respo